

Sales and Solution Provider

Consilium Marine US is a producer of safety technologies for the marine, transport, and building sectors. Combining safety expertise with intelligent detection to save lives, material assets and the environment.

We provide addressable fire detection systems based on a broad range of smoke, heat, and flame detectors. We work with both new constructions and retrofit / replacement of low performing fire and gas detection systems providing up to full turnkey solutions depending on the customer's needs.